

Society at large has enjoyed a week of perfect repose. The affair at Mrs. Lynn's Thursday, together with a few card parties, teas, and the dance at Christensen's Friday night made up the list of attractions, while the present week does not give promise of outshining the one just ended.

Mrs. Hal Brown entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Brown and Miss Lombard of Nebraska. The parlors were effectively decorated with carnations and ferns, while the color scheme in the dining room was of violet and yellow.

During the afternoon a guessing game—the pen names of authors—was enjoyed by the guests.

Mrs. Brown was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Cole, Miss Black and Mrs. Peyton.

Present were Mrs. Hommer, Mrs. Stiehl, Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. William Lechebur, the Misses McMillan, Miss Miller, Miss Earls, Miss Carter, Miss Ethel Paul, Miss Hunt, Miss Colburn, the Misses Wells, Miss Reynolds, Miss Atkinson, Miss Geneva Jennings, Miss Grace Jacobs, Miss Thoren, Miss Mand Thoren, Miss Beattie, Miss Murray, Miss Minnie Murray, Mrs. Twomey, Miss Twomey.

Mrs. Davenport was the guest of honor at a large afternoon affair given Thursday by Mrs. W. P. Lynn. The house was prettily decorated with carnations, roses and similar.

The invitations had been accompanied by a small box and a request to put in it an article, anything from "the sublime to the ridiculous," and to be prepared to tell a story about it. The stories told were the source of much enjoyment to the guests. Miss Ethel Paul easily carried off the honors as the most interesting story teller.

Those invited to meet the guest of honor were Mrs. Albert F. Holden, Mrs. Kenneth Kerr, Mrs. James A. Pollock, Miss Sylvia Anderson, Miss Ora Havens, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Marchand, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Smith, Miss Rancie, Miss Sadler, Miss Hoge, Mrs. Donnellon, Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. A. Mrs. A. Suyman, teacher of the sixth grade at the Fremont school, was pleasantly surprised by the pupils of her room on Friday afternoon and evening. Misses Kate E. Webster and Lillian Spencer had the affair in charge and arranged a very neat programme of speaking, singing, etc., after which a choice luncheon was served. Principal Eldredge, the teachers of the school and pupils of this grade were in attendance.

The Y. M. C. A. will combine militant and social functions on next Saturday night by giving an "Evening Among the Camp Fires." The details of the event were decided upon at a meeting held last night. The rooms will be elaborately decorated, and the scenes of camp life will be recalled by the serving of beans and hard tack for refreshments and a covering of straw upon the floor. Military tents will also be used in the apartments, and war songs and martial music will be reminiscent of the days when the bloody hand of war shook the land. Chaplain Allenworth and W. D. Corser, O. A. R. commander, are billed for the story telling, and Fred Ulmer will have the duty of drilling an awkward squad. The novelty of the occasion will be increased by the presence of Company A of the national guard, which will be under the direction of Captain Webb.

An enjoyable affair of the past week was the party given by Miss Della Eldredge last Sunday evening in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Mr. Clarence L. Nix. WALKER'S STORE.

AN INVITATION TO MEET THE SPRING STYLES.

Buyers are all home again and the result of their efforts abroad appears in a most glorious list of Fashionable Arrivals. We wish we might tell you of all the superb things, but printed words come high to the merchant advertiser, and then, too, depiction is but preliminary to the seeing. In silks the tendency is toward strong colors and sharp contrasts—plaids, checks, stripes, here again, yet different, original; brilliant and gorgeous—no clashing of colors, however; this is the Frenchman's art. In Dress Goods, individuality is shown in the beautiful one suit French novelty patterns—exclusiveness surely—no danger of meeting one's self on the promenade. Grenadines, more than ever popular over color, or in silk and wool mixtures; in these how deftly has the loom toyed with silken threads fine as spider's web and the rugged woollen, yet produced a filmy evenness of weave, beauty and harmony of color blending. Plain weaves, too, are recognized favorites and come in new shadings, Yale blues, Oris blue, Ombres, etc., endless in variety, each one a worthy aspirant for place in your affection. And the tailor-made ready-to-wear dresses with their man-tailor finish, elegance of fabric and chic style command a place and are quite able to maintain it, for with these all speculation as to becomingness of style and color ceases—try on the dress—settled. But won't you just look over the many gatherings and see for yourself
